Q: What's the source of her innovation? >

A:

{ experience } Connect with Susan Angelo, Managed Care Division Leader at OneBeacon Professional Insurance. When you do, you might just think you've found the ultimate source for all that is managed care. Like many at OBPI, Susan isn't just an expert in her field, she's a master of it. As Susan humbly states, "I just read and research a lot, always looking for issues that could impact our brokers and their clients." Whether it's reams of information on health care reform or potential new exposures created by the development of Accountable Care Organizations, she's like a human radar.

Susan goes on, "I combine the information with the feedback I receive from brokers and clients to create unique solutions like our new subpoena defense coverage." Of course Susan's not alone. You'll find many at OBPI with a tireless focus on their specific industries, but who also have the innate passion and curiosity to bring insight-driven problem solving to our customers.

One of Many Knowing more and doing more to bring innovation to brokers and clients is not just Susan's focus. It happens to be a pursuit of everyone at OBPI. See for yourself. Find an OBPI expert near you with our state-by-state directory at onebeaconpro.com/connectnow.
