Q: What's her approach? >

A:

{ smart } Meet Stacy Paquet, Management Liability expert at OneBeacon Professional Insurance. If you do, you'll discover she brings a lot to the table.

For example, when Stacy was invited to an underwriter meeting at a national not-for-profit, she didn't think business opportunity first. Foremost on Stacy's mind was to answer questions and share valuable insights to help the organization. With broker, legal counsel, client, and even other carriers in the room, she delivered. Stacy shared information on case law and trends that could impact the organization.

It was the kind of intelligence some might wait to offer until after a deal is done, but not Stacy. Like so many at OBPI, she prefers a straightforward approach, and sharing expertise and insight with brokers and clients who share in OBPI's goal of mutual success. That's our deal.

One of Many Making the way brokers and clients experience professional insurance entirely better, even before a deal is made, is not just Stacy's passion. It's in everyone at OBPI.
